

COMMUNICATION

Communication in its highest form is between two or more people when you both feel a common resonance in the heart. To be able to communicate from this level, one must first learn to listen through the heart.

The nature kingdoms and all of Creation is communicating with you in all moments. And these communications are through feelings.

Your guides are communicating to you through light frequency. The birds are communicating through their songs and the animal kingdom through their feelings and sounds.

The colour spirits and music spirits are communicating through the feelings it invokes with in you. The stars are communicating to you through the emanations of their brilliant light.

How can one come to a place where one is able to hear/perceive all communicated feelings/energies?

There is a communication available to human beings which is beyond words.

In your highest meditative state, you are not in the ego state, or your personality or verbal state. If you attempt to verbalize what you are experiencing, often, the verbalization can cause the energy to be stepped down.

There are sensors on your ears and there are chakras on your ears. These chakras pick up all the vibrations of all the sound you hear and then it interprets it from the programmed energies of your sub conscious mind.

There are different levels of awareness, you are influenced by in every moment.

Most of the awareness you are influenced are the from the thought patterns of the collective masses and your own beliefs about it.

EXERCISE

In the human energy system, you have what is called Pranic Tube - which is a thin energy tube running next to your entire body length. This tube runs about 18 inches above your head and about 18 inches underneath your feet.

This tube is the bridge for your Divine Soul. Practice communicating from this tube.

Let each word come from this place. When you are fully integrated with this energy, then you are out of the matrix energy and you are in the space of the awareness called Delta.

This is the place of Soul Awareness.

Work with the Pranic tube by breathing into this tube of light and see it expanding.

The more you open and expand this tube, the more you are in your natural state/your soul self.

When you communicate from this level, the words, you carry will have higher frequency and it will come from the fullness of your being.

Since it is coming from the fullness of your being, it will create a heart resonance in the person, you are communicating with.

Heart resonance communication can empower and uplift. It can help one rediscover themselves. It can open the door to one's connection to the Creator and all of creation.

You can also strengthen the vocal-chord by breathing in, the Colours of the rainbow and combined with the words coming through your Pranic Tube.

It will create a powerful vibrational frequency within you which can create a heart resonance in both of you.

Pranic tube is the Golden Key to your liberation and to your heart source.
