

Hope

Hope is the impetus to live.
Hope creates the will to move forward.
Hope creates optimism. Hope opens the belief of a better day/a better time/a higher experience. Hope opens the door to a new reality. Hope ignites the Will to Live more. Hope connects us to a Higher Power within us.

Hope is an energy engraved on all human soul. Before one takes birth, your guides touch your third eye area and you forget the full essence of who you are and only bring a tiny energy of awareness into the earth plane. But they also anchor the energy of Hope in your third eye area and this is to support you, during your time spent on the earth plane. Your guides know that, in the dense earth energy, life can be challenging, and many will want to quit and return sooner than the life time planned for that incarnation. The energy of Hope propels you to move forward and not give up. You have taken birth on the earth plane to learn about balance and to be in harmony.

The challenges and solutions are designed by you for your growth.

Hope comes from Love. It is a part of Love energy. Hope propels you forward. It is the catalyst for your growth and evolution. Hope is an energy which can help you when you feel stuck. You can call on the energy of Hope to heal deep seated wounds. It is like a lantern in the dark night.

On top of each finger, there are energies. These energies are cosmic in nature. They have been anchored by your guides, before you incarnated. They contain the energy of the planet Venus, the jumping point for the Souls before they are born. The energy they have anchored on top of your fingertips are the energies of HOPE. Simply holding your fingers in a vertical position and gently blowing on top of your fingers is enough to awaken this energy. The colour of this energy is soft blue with shades of white.

Every morning when you wake up, simply blow into the top of fingers and awaken this energy and then simply like washing your face, gently rub your face with this energy.

You can also bring the awareness of this energy into your chakras. Your elbows hold ancient memories of your spiritual evolution and contains the energy of Mastery you have achieved in other lifetimes and in other planets, in which you had life streams.

Your knees represent the energy of courage and the willingness to face life in the face of life's challenges. The pain in the knees represent the inability or not wanting to face the challenges in one's life. Bring the energy of Hope into both the knees.

You can also bring in the energy of Hope into your Tongue. Your tongue is connected to the Pineal Gland and to the brain structures. The DNA structures in the tongue will be recoded with the positive energy of Hope and it will be reflected in the words you speak.

Hope energy can support you not only when you are alive, but also in death. If you have hope that, when you pass away, you will have help on the other side, that will be your reality. So, hope plays an equally important role in life and death.

Make this statement daily when you wake up in the morning and before you retire to bed.

I awaken the energy of Hope within my Cells.

I anchor the energy of Hope into my nervous system.

It is through your nervous system that you create the fastest connection to Mother Earth. And when you are fully anchored into Mother Earth, there will be stability in your earthly lives.

Additionally, you can request the support of Angel Hope to help you to open this sacred energy. The colour vibration of hope energy is soft purple. The vibrational number of Hope energy is 11. The vibrational tone of Hope energy is EEEEEZZEEEEEE

The hope energy will shift your belief systems and when your beliefs change, you will take appropriate action and you will experience and become what you created. So, from Hope you come into a place of Being and your Soul wants the experience of Beingness in all moments. Never lose hope. It is a Divine Gift of your Soul
