

DNA

Defined in many ways - from scientific to, esoteric to mystical.

In truth, it simply means Divine Natural Awareness. This natural awareness exists as part of your naturalness. It always was and always is. It exists in every minute particle of you. Every cell of every organ is encoded with this natural awareness. And what is this awareness you carry?

The knowingness of your Soul and it's sacred connection to all and Oneness. This divine natural awareness (DNA) is impacted and is being impacted by your thoughts and beliefs.

In the human energy systems, there are 144 places where the energies of your DNA are stored. These 144 points are not just in your physical body but in your six other innate bodies - physical, mental, emotional, auric body, etheric body, casual body, subtle light body.

All these bodies interact with you simultaneously and your thoughts and feelings are generated from all these bodies.

Hence you display different emotions and feelings - sometimes acting out of love, sometimes displaying anger etc.

Each of these bodies have different layers of consciousness and auric field and your thoughts gets embedded into the auric energy of these bodies and it impacts your Divine Natural Awareness (DNA).

This means, you are continually inputting data into your DNA. Your DNA holds all the energies of all the inputs as a present moment consciousness - as there is no past, present or future - only NOW. It also means, from all the experiences you have had in your life, the data from that experience is encoded in your DNA.

One of the truths about your DNA is that you can input new information and it will hold this as a Now Moment Consciousness.

In your prayers and meditations, make it a point to bring the awakened energies of peace, love, truth, joy etc into your DNA structures by verbalizing it. Then stay in that energy field for a few minutes.

Coffee with Master Buddha
Channeled by Irhaan Rae Chandran

15th July 2020

Breathe in the energy of all planets and especially the Sun energy and through intent spread these energies into your DNA. This process is called Recoding of DNA and it will become your new Divine Natural Awareness.

You can also invoke the energies of your guides and angels and spread into your DNA. Make a statement that you are bringing this new awareness to enhance your divine natural awareness.

In the similar way, start programming with the new energies of what you require in life. In the same manner, you can also, through intent disconnect from many of the energies you want to discard.

You are in command of your life energies - you can add, remove and replace the energies through these simple techniques.

Step into the role of your Life Creation.