

In the Sacred Moment of now, I realized who I was
I was a particle of Light,
Who danced upon the Stars
And the Cosmos was my playground
I was birthed From the heart of the Creator
With all the essences of the Creator itself

I burst forth, In all my glory to express and experience all that I was,

In this sacred moment of Now, For this moment
Was all that was there
And it contained all moments and I became the Star,
Then a mighty eagle who could fly across the ocean and sea

I desired to experience the Great particle of the Capstone of the Great Pyramid

The dust of the root of the mighty Oak Tree
And in becoming all this I expanded
And I rejoiced in my expression of who I am

Then I decided to express myself as a human
And when I put forth this intent,
A kindred soul like me jumped forward and willingly offered its womb for me to manifest my desire to be a human

I made my way to the Blue Jewel called Gaia
To create more and express more and now
I longed to once again be the free expression of who I am
And I am moving forward to that expression of mine which once again can dance on the Stars

For my cosmic dance is leading me back once again
To the Heart of the Creator
For I am Going Home which is Fully into Myself.