

In the Sacred Moment of now, I realized who I was
I was a particle of Light, who danced upon the Stars
And the Cosmos was my playground and I was birthed
From the heart of the Creator,
With all the essences of the Creator itself
I burst forth in all my glory to express and experience all that I was
In this sacred moment of Now, for this moment was all that was there
It contained all moments and I became the Star
Then a mighty eagle who could fly across the ocean and sea
And I desired to experience the Great particle of the Capstone of the Great Pyramid
And also, the dust of the root of the mighty Oak Tree
And in becoming all this I expanded, and I rejoiced in my expression of who I am
And then I decided to express myself as a human
When I put forth this intent, a kindred soul like me jumped forward
And willingly offered its womb for me to manifest my desire to be a human
I made my way to the Blue Jewel called Gaia to create more
And express more and now I longed to once again be the free expression of who I am
And I am moving forward to that expression of mine
Which once again can dance on the Stars
For my cosmic dance is leading me back once again to the Heart of the Creator
For I am Going Home which is Fully into Myself.

Irhaan Rae Chandran

Feb 3, 2019